SYNOPSIS:

After spending some time in Beijing, Roy and Jessie decide to travel to Moscow on the mythic Trans-Siberian Railway, which connects European Russia with the distant Russian Far East provinces, Mongolia and China. Despite the rather odd nature of the people who travel on the gigantic and somewhat dingy train, it is not long before the couple strikes up a conversation with their compartment mates, Ian and Abby. Their paths will cross with those of Inspector Grinko, who is investigating the murder of a drug trafficker.

SYNOPSIS:

The story of a man ahead of his time confronted with the ignorance of the Spanish Inquisition, and at the same time a musing on faith and power. Domenicos Theotocopoulos, better known as "El Greco", is the film's main character. Surrounding him is a whirl of passion, intrigue and violence. "El Greco" discovers his great adversary in the figure of the Grand Inquisitor, Niño de Guevara. After upholding a rather ambiguous relationship for many years, Niño de Guevara will become his worst enemy.

SYNOPSIS:

Gabriel is a brilliant piano player who no one has heard play in many years. His music, as well as his voice, was silenced when he was just a boy. He is comfortable living in his own world. But the arrival of Sara, a young violinist, will provoke a storm of changes and emotions in Gabriel's quiet, isolated life, forcing him to deal with his past, his present and even his future. A confrontation with his father, whom he had not seen for many years, will mark a turning point in the journey of a Gabriel who still thinks and feels like a boy, but must finally become an adult.

SYNOPSIS:

Six characters – contemporary archetypes of urban solitude – meet in an old apartment located in the center of Barcelona. An elderly couple, the woman's brother and three tenants: a blonde woman who gives French classes; a young security guard and one-time football player; and a young, pregnant South American girl.

In this non-descript Barcelona flat, incest, homosexuality and adultery are intertwined in the lives of these characters, whilst we simultaneously witness the passing of time in this Mediterranean city.

The marriage of Viena, a theatre director, and Daniel, a doctor in a geriatric home, is on the rocks. While they still love each other, they can't stand each other. To fill the emptiness in their lives, they both focus on their respective careers. Their worlds are at odds, their needs are different... or maybe not: we are all in search of the same thing.

This is a story about shared loneliness, imperfect love, unfulfilled desires and promises which, though of unknown duration, become a wonderful pretext to live... in spite of everything.

Malena and Pablo, a sister and brother travelling together in Argentina, discover a diary that tells of crimes committed twenty years earlier. That same night, the past and the present intertwine. Before the helpless eyes of the brother and sister, a family is persecuted, tortured and murdered, in the very manner described in the diary, step by step.

Based on actual facts, The Appeared is a ghost story in the vein of The Sixth Sense. A film that delves into events that actually occur, a journey into true terror because despite our attempts to forget, pain, as a physical presence, lives on.

Two ancient armies have been secretly fighting since the beginning of time. Their conflict is based on the belief that the guardians of the Apocalypse, the Just, men far beyond their own kind, exist, and that the Final Judgement would depend on their survival. Both organizations act in the name of Good, but their purposes are strictly opposed. One of them wants to protect "the Just" for the sake of humanity while the other group looks forward to destroying them in order to regenerate humankind. Now, after years of conflict, there's only one Just man left, Theo.
